

Changing Verbs to the Past Tense

Starter:

Can you name the vowels?

The rest of the letters in the alphabet are called consonants

What Is Past Tense?

The past tense tells us what has already happened.

Look at the two sentences below;
one is in the past tense and one in the present.

I am walking down my road.

I walked down my road.

Adding 'ed' to Make a Past Tense Verb

The difference between the present and past tense statements was the verb 'walk'. In the past tense, an 'ed' was added to make the past tense verb.

walking → walked

Making a past tense verb is not always as simple as adding an 'ed' to the verb. Sometimes, the past tense can change the spelling of the original (root) word too.

Adding 'ed'

If a verb already ends with an 'e', make sure it ends in 'ed'.

Here are some examples:

bake → baked

hope → hoped

whine → whined

Changing 'y' to 'i'

If the present tense verb ends in a consonant and a 'y',
the 'y' becomes an 'i'.

Here are some examples:

hury → hurried

wory → worried

Don't change the 'y' if the word ends in a vowel and a 'y'. For example:

stay → stayed

Doubling the Consonant

If a verb with one syllable ends with one vowel and a consonant, double the consonant before adding 'ed'.

Here are some examples:

wrap → wrapped

beg → begged

step → stepped

Adding a 'k'

If the verb ends with 'c', add a 'k' before you add 'ed'.

Here are some examples:

panic

panicked

traffic

trafficked
