

English

What Is a Non-Chronological Report?

Non-Chronological reports:

use a title;

write an introduction;

put information into sections that can be read in any order;

give each section a sub-heading e.g. Food;

use facts.

Here is my example. Could you have a go at writing your own about a wonder?

The Great Wall of China

The Great Wall of China runs across China from east to west. It is the longest wall in the world. It is thousands of miles long and is surrounded by steep hills.

Millions of people visit every year.

Who built the wall?

The building of the wall began over 2000 years ago, around 200BC, on the orders of the first emperor of China, Qin Shi Huang.

Where is the wall?

It runs across China from east to west. China is on the continent of Asia. The wall runs near the borders with Mongolia and the Gobi Desert.

Why was the wall built?

When the wall was started, China was split into lots of different groups and there were many wars. The wall was built as a defence against any groups that tried to invade from the north.

Interesting Facts

- Construction of the Great Wall began between 220 and 206BC.
- The Great Wall stretches for 21 195 kilometres across northern China.
- The top of the wall is wide enough for people, animals and carts to travel along it.
- People who were being punished, such as criminals and slaves, originally built the wall.

The Great Wall of China